Context

A telescope is currently under construction in Chile that is expected to provide images that are 16 times sharper than the Hubble Space Telescope.

Generator

Retriever

machinery working in the Atacama Desert of the

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia northern Chile to flatten the top of the mountain for a platform large enough to host the ELT with its main mirror, 39.2 metres in diameter.

Numerous construction workers using heavy

This telescope is probably in the Atacama

Desert.

Extremely Large Telescope

Reference documents